Standard Woman Killed in Crash

Mrs. Ella McInenly, 27, of Standard, died in Holy Cross hospital Saturday night as a result of an accident in which she and two friends were injured about four miles east of Strathmore around five o'clock the same afternoon. Injured in the crash were Norman Sanderson and Melvin Costello, both of Standard, and both of whom received lacerations.

Driving west on the highway, the car crashed into the rear of a parked truck operated by George Howley of Calgary. Also in the car, but uninjured, was John McInenly, husband of the deceased woman.

The passengers were brought to Strathmore for treatment, and Mrs. McInenly was taken to Calgary by ambulance, but passed on shortly after being admitted. The car was quite badly damaged.

Mrs. McInenly was born in Standard and educated at Dana public and high schools and the School of Agriculture at Green watching for.

Surviving are her husband; one son Warren; one daughter, Diane; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anton Nielsen; one brother, William of Standard.

Local Car Overturns On North Highway

M. Broadbent of Strathmore rolled off the edge of the new highway about six miles north of Red Deer a week ago Tuesday, causing considerable damage to his car. Mr. Broadbent is believed to have been waiting for a train at one of the few railroad crossings, getting too close to the side of the road. As his wife uttered warning, he gave the wheel a jerk. The car jack-knifed and turned over several times, ending up on its side pointing south.

Bill Ritson and Jack Collett of Lacombe, who were travelling by truck, and drove Mrs. Broadbent to the Red Deer hospital. She didn't appear to be badly hurt aside from shock. Mr. Broadbent was not injured.

GETS PERFECT HAND AT CRIB

Playing with George Lockie at the No-Way Cafe the other night, Fred Harris received a perfect hand, counting 29. He drew four aces in his hand, and a jack was turned up. Away behind at the time the game was enough to give Fred the game.

Outstanding Bull is Bought at Langdon

R. J. Arthur and J. L. Jeffers, both farmers of the Cheadle-Langdon farm, recently returned from a trip to Missoula, Montana, where they purchased an outstanding Polled Hereford herd bull prospect.

The American Hereford Journal reporting the sale said of him: "Woodford D. 17th, sired by Dingwood Jay—Donnie 2nd is fully headed, heavily boned, compact, low set and clean."

Mr. Jeffers brought back nine fine Polled Hereford heifers, the Dingwood and Rossignol herds, while Mr. Arthur brought back a beautiful specimen of Dinswale's breeding.

We are informed that this is the largest shipment ever made to Alberta.

Hussar Ladies Aid Making Plans For Christmas-Time Aid

There were only eight members present at the meeting of the Hussar Ladies Aid on Thursday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. G. Jutras, but the President, Mrs. T. Burdett, put through several important points of business. The members voted to purchase the bags for the candles for the Christmas entertainment and also to serve the lunch at the Curlers' Dance on December 8th. The committee reported that three boxes of canned fruit, vegetables etc. were sent in to the Red Cross Hospital for Crippled Children, and that a nineteen pound package of food was sent to England as a Christmas gift to an invalid there. Mrs. Burdett gave a short talk of remembrance for one of the old members who had passed away and was to be buried in Calgary on Friday afternoon. Mrs. T. L. Montgomery, who had been secretary for the Aid for years, and a faithful member, Mrs. P. Pringle read a short article on conditions in England. The contests were won by Mrs. E. Seelye and Mrs. C. P. English. Mrs. C. Shobladun won the special prize. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Burdett, on December 9th; and the chief matter of business will be the annual election of officers.

Montgomery, who died in the General Hospital in Calgary on Nov. 16th, and was buried from "The Little Chapel on the Corner" with Rev. H. C. Burkholder officiating on Friday, Nov. 19th. The pall bearers were Mr. Christie, Mr. Roberge, Mr. Clifford, Messrs. Ben and Lester Snyder, and Mr. J. Jones. Many of her friends from Hussar were in attendance at the funeral; the beautiful floral offerings attested to the love and esteem in which she was held by her many friends. With her husband, Mr. Thomas L. Montgomery, she had been residing in Calgary for the past two years. Two of their sons, Ivan and Graham, with their families reside north of Hussar; their son, Leon, lives at Rosebud, and their daughter, Erna, and her husband, Dave Christie, reside in Edmonton. The sympathy of this community is extended to this family in their bereavement.

Local Progressive Conservative Women Hear Mrs. Milvain

Only a small audience was present to hear the very vivid word picture of the Progressive Conservative Convention given by Mrs. E. Milvain in the Memorial Hall Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Gladys Morgan presided and introduced the speaker.

In a very interesting address Mrs. Milvain gave her audience a detailed account of the Convention procedure and a summary of the qualifications of the various candidates.

Mrs. Milvain deplored the lack of interest of women in politics and urged all women to take a greater interest in public affairs for the general good of the country at large.

Menonite Wedding In United Church

Rev. J. Siemens of Coldale officiating at the wedding ceremony assisted by Rev. J. Siemens of Coldale. The Choir of Nanaka conducted by Mr. Quiring rendered excellent music throughout, the congregation joining in the hymns in sympathetic and tuneful voice. The Service was largely spoken in German and was unfamiliar to many of the guests the serious atmosphere of the service was very evident.

The bride looked very winsome in a floor length gown of brocade white satin with long light-point sleeves and long embroidered net veil caught with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of lovely crimson roses. Two little flower girls, sisters of the bride and groom, scattered rose petals in their path as they emerged from the Church.

VISITORS NURSERY

Under this heading another paper which we regularly read suggests that their town needs a nursery for children in the small sized group, so that mothers may go shopping with much less trouble. They suggest that if it were open on Saturdays from 2 to 6 p.m., and 7 to 10 p.m., it would probably render signal service and be very heartily received, particularly by a number of visitors from the country points, who just can't see leaving their children at home, and yet who have "carting" them all over the stores.

It's a little different from a rest-room idea, and yet this is also a worthwhile feature, and might serve an even more useful function. We think it's worthy of consideration in Strathmore, by some of the groups about the town.

Accommodation would no doubt be the hardest nut to crack, but we think there are possible locations which might be opened up. Certainly it would take work, but the lodges or service clubs could hardly find a better work to take on.

Our newspaper friend suggests that in most instances volunteer help could be found to staff the project, and we wonder if this may not be right. At any rate, we feel that optimism would be better than pessimism for its development, and that one, or a group of local organizations would find hearty support of the community if they even discussed the matter.

Skating has been in full swing for more than a week on the lake in the park, and a bonfire may be seen each evening as the kids get things going. What with both hockey and skating on the same area, it's a busy place.

Pity Fixed Incomes

(Pentiction Herald)

In simple language, it would have been much better, if it had been possible to increase the real wages of workers by a smaller increase in money, coupled with no increase in prices, which would have left them just as well off as they are, and would not have imposed such a burden on the purchasing power of those on fixed incomes, or living on savings.

After all, the man on a fixed income or living on savings, has as much right to consideration as the man who is earning, and has obtained increased wages.

It looks as though the mistake has been in trying to raise wages ahead of the increase in production which would justify such a raise. It looks as though the nation has been engaged in an attempt to draw wages ahead of time, and that unless the people on fixed incomes and those living on savings are to be wiped out, it would be a good thing now to postpone further great increases in wages, until production has so increased that the cost of living does not go up any more.

Here's What Farmers Say About Trees

Testimonials Received From Prairie Farmers By Sask. Indian Head Forest Nursery.

"Please send me a list of the trees you have. I got some white spruce from you in the spring of 1938, every one grew. I have a lovely grove, some of them are 10 feet high already. I have had lots of people on the highway stop to comment about the lovely trees, and what I did to make them grow like that. Cultivation is all I can say. I keep the grass and weeds out each side

ELECTION COSTS

A recent incomplete accounting of election bills at Edmonton, recently, showed that the August 17 election cost the taxpayers $176,000 or approximately forty cents per voter eligible. When you figure in the bills of the various candidates, it is altogether likely that the overall cost would rise to a dollar.

Yet half of the population don't feel it's worth walking to the polls to spend their dollar.

Ideals are like stars—we never reach them, but like the mariners at sea, we chart our course by them.

THAT TIME-SAVING ITEM

We reprinted an item from the Nanton News last week, wondering what use was being made of all the time that people save through today's wonderful time-saving inventions. And we thought it was a good question to ask.

But it took us only a week to find the answer. Positively. All of this precious time, we find, is spent in adjusting and maintaining and repairing a lot of machinery we have to have to save us time.

It works something like this: we put in this machinery to save us time, and do a good job—faster. Then, when we think we're away head of the game, something goes haywire, and it takes all our time to get it working again, so that we can save time and do a good job—faster.

We found out this way. We live in a house equipped with one of those stokers that feeds coal to the furnace when the house gets cold, and shuts off when the house gets warm, and so forth..... it does everything but empty the ashes. At least, that's what the man said. But today the house got cold, and switches clicked, and motors whirled, — but no heat.

So we started to work to find out why. And we didn't have more than fifty pieces of machinery lying on the floor before we realized this was silly. We could stoke a lot of fires in less time than it took to tear it down, much less put the thing together. And still there was no answer. But it did come to light..... a long ugly looking bolt that certainly didn't belong to this machine. Maybe we got it with the coal....no extra charge. But we stored it carefully away, so it wouldn't get caught again, and went back to counting the time we were saving.

of them for a distance of 8 feet." "Having prepared 1½ miles for trees for next spring (1939) I would be pleased if you could supply them. I expect to put caragana one foot apart as I have already done the ones I have.

"The caragana have done exceptionally well this spring and certainly are an asset to a farm. I intend to put one or two miles a year in until I have my land pretty well lined with them. I find the crop is much better close to them."

"I would not like to be without my shelter belt for a lot of money as I motor around the country and see so many places without a TWIG growing. I feel quite proud of my feeble effort. One man valued my shelter belt at $2,000. I place no value on it, as it is not for sale."

In Others' Words

We Wonder What to Say

Just over a week ago, it was announced by Calgary concern that Santa Claus would arrive in Calgary for the benefit of all the youngsters who could get there to meet him. Unfortunately, there are youngsters who live many miles away and could not get there for the occasion. Yet they wish to be assured that Santa Claus hasn't forgotten them. We told these youngsters that Santa Claus didn't usually make his rounds so early, and we assured them they hadn't been forgotten by the grand old gentleman, regardless of what Calgary business organizations may have done to leave that impression.

It is unfortunate that Santa Claus had to make the trip so early to Calgary. We know he didn't intend to miss any children no matter where they lived. We rather think that the stores concerned must have insisted that he come earlier than usual. But by his coming, many small children have lost the joy of seeing and hearing about him at the Yuletide season, which is still over a month and ten days away as we write.

If we remember correctly, Santa Claus' itinerary calls for him to come just prior to Christmas instead of at Remembrance Day. We think it is most inconsiderate of business to be so tied up in commercialism that they are beginning to forget Santa Claus to the point where he has to make trips at their request or lose his job. As a matter of fact, it's only the middle of November. And we know, as we have known for thirty years, that Santa Claus comes in December near Christmas time. It's thoughtless to work Santa so hard. There are many children who believe that, too.

Speeches at Weddings

(From Stettler Independent)

A correspondent writes us that he has attended a number of weddings in this community and on some occasions a speech has been called upon to make a speech at the wedding dinner. On these occasions he found that he had nothing to say and he asks us if we can assist him by outlining a few appropriate remarks in case he is called upon again.

First of all, a wedding is supposed to be a happy event and there is no point in talking about the friends and relatives who have been present if they had not passed away. Nor should financial depressions or threats of war with Russia be mentioned as they would serve as depressing introductions to married life. It may be that the groom is already financially embarrassed and that the happy couple have no place to go except the residence of the bride's parents.

Under no circumstances should a political speech be given, especially that kind of speech which we hear so often in Alberta, denouncing the United States and the guests who may be half seas over, may think that you are criticising the bride's mother who is one big interest present and you will get in wrong right from the start.

Make your speech snappy and if you have to allude to economic affairs as most speakers do, be sure and emphasize the well known economic truth that two can live cheaper than one, three can live cheaper than two, four can live cheaper than three and so on in arithmetic progression.

But our correspondent evidently wants something more than generalities and has asked for definite material to turn on. Therefore we are glad to furnish the following anecdotes which bear directly on the married state.

A gentleman who had just been married was sent for hurriedly to see his father who was seriously ill at the hospital. When he arrived he was told him that the patient had just passed away. Very much distressed he asked: "What were father's last words?"

"He had no last words" was the answer. "Mother was with him to the end."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

'BULL' HAD A SOLUTION

Editor, The Standard:

From the scanty shelter of our trenches, we listened to the foe's barrage crashing into our position. The shells from our supporting guns, far in the rear, sang an answering fury high overhead. And over all, hung a pall of swirling dust, and the sharp, ominous threat of exploded TNT drifted through the shattered orchard.

Big, amiable "Bull" Hawthorne, always had an appropriate observation to suit any and all occasions, pressed his heavy shoulders hard against the clay wall. "Damn the guns," he said.

"If I get through this war alive," Bull went on, "I am going to buy a horse and a gun." "I'll put the gun under my arm, and start riding. When I eventually meet someone who asks me what the strange apparatus under my arm is, I'll ride on another hundred miles and settle down."

A nearby shell-burst brought a shower of earth and leaves cascading down in front of him.

"In the meantime," Bull continued, "a little shakily, I would like to have a good, deep fox hole; so that when the foot tenses in a grenade, I wouldn't even hear the explosion."

With false prosperity in full flood, the drum beating of some of our larger newspaper editors, and the ranting, half-baked war beating of our internationally radio commentators in our midst today, we sometimes wish we could saddle up and hit the long trail with Bull, or, perhaps, relax in the quiet security of his wondrously deep fox hole.

ADVICE TO YOUTH

Editor, The Standard:—

The world of today, as possibly never before, is urgently in need of people of absolute integrity. People who are not afraid of work. It is a sad commentary on the present-day situation that practically anything is "good enough." Everywhere one sees poor work, laziness, inexperience, over-charging and a general belief on the part of young workaholics that if you are conscientious, civil, and use intelligence, you are a "dope."

Never was there a greater mislake, and never were there greater opportunities for young people to advance in their chosen calling. The world is crying out for young men in particular, with vision, courage and the ability to start from the bottom and work up, instead of expecting to reach the general manager's position in a short time, with little or no effort on their part.

It is time to come out again when a person who is expected to work only six or seven hours a day, actually works that time and is willing to work any longer if necessary, uses his God-given intelligence stops being plain stupid about "coffee time" and all such inconsequential extenuations and demands a real step forward will have been taken, and the world will be a better place to live in. Nightingale Notes

The Woman's Institute held a meeting last Thursday instead of Friday and the afternoon was spent labeling a d marking goods for the bazaar, and arranging tables for the bingo and other displays. A dainty lunch was served with all contributing.

The ladies appreciate the support of those who patronized the bazaar on Friday night. At present it is impossible to give a financial report but we do know it was a real success. Miss Doris Walls was winner of the lovely quilt and Mrs. Hannah Carlson won the embroidered pillow slips as second prize. Miss Lillian Kinnett of Standard won the pretty dressed doll. Music for dancing was supplied by a Calgary orchestra and the usual good time was had by all.

Mr. Don Dougan returned to his home after a week in Calgary. We are pleased to know that Don's health is much improved. Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Howe of Calgary and Mrs. Jim Gothard of Medicine Hat came down with Don and took in the bazaar and dance.

Mrs. Howard Christoffersen is substituting for Mrs. Larson in the Senior room this week. Mrs. Larson has been quite ill and we wish her a speedy recovery.

Mrs. E. M. Stoodley and Ted went to Calgary last Thursday to visit Mr. Stoodley who is still in hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Curtis and sons of Great Falls, Montana, were recent visitors at the Harriman home. Mr. and Mrs. Curtis at one time farmed near Irricana.

Mrs. Holgate of Edmonton is here on a visit to her sister Mrs. Lee Kinney.

Congratulations go to Mr. and Mrs. Russel Morgan on the birth of a daughter Dec. 4th.

Remember Dec. 10th is the Hall dance with Mrs. Whittaker's orchestra so come along and have a good time. Your presence will encourage the hall committee in their efforts to increase the funds for the hall.

The Home and School held a meeting Tuesday last week with 13 members present.

Wednesday Nov. 17 the members of the W.I. entertained their husbands at a dinner of baked ham and all the trimmings in the club room. After dinner, court whist was played having travelling prizes on each table. During the evening tickets were sold on the W.I. quilt and the draw was made, with Louise Bain holding the lucky ticket. During lunch hour the W.I. presented Mr. and Mrs. Jim Garlie with a lovely bed throw, also giving Mrs. Garlie a W.I. spoon. Mrs. Garlie then thanked the W.I. with well chosen words.

Mr. E. Moe has returned after visiting in the States.

Miss Joan Thomas is doing nicely after having her tonsils removed on Saturday.

The Langdon Sports Club served Corn Beef and Cabbage to a large crowd on Saturday evening, netting a nice sum. The Wheat Pool kindly showed moving pictures with good color and of great interest.

We see Master Charles Bates is using only one arm, the other being tied up with a broken elbow. Too bad, Charlie. Here's hoping it is all better soon.

The Ladies Aid are planning a bazaar on Dec. 4th.

I'm Keeping the Power Flowing

ALBERTA'S NEEDS ARE GOING TO BE MET...

I've got two main concerns right now, and both of them are with the people of Alberta. First, I'm determined to see that the homes and industries I'm now serving are assured of continuous unbroken service, and secondly, I want to expand my present power lines to as many more rural areas as I can.

Naturally, that means plant capacity must be kept ahead of the demand and that is why I'm going ahead as fast as possible with the Spray Lakes project because it will add 100,000 h.p. to present capacity.

Other places on this continent are having to ration power because of insufficient capacity. That has not become necessary in Alberta, nor will it, if our present expansion plans can be kept to schedule.

Whatever you undertake — give it everything you've got!

Your job or working conditions may not be to your liking. But don't let that be a damper. Put everything you have into your work and see how much happier you feel.

Suppose some acquaintances drop in for a visit, thus interrupting your enjoyment of a book or radio program. If you resent their intrusion, your guests certainly will not enjoy themselves. And you will be bored and restless. But if you decide that since they are there, you will be as pleasant and entertaining as you can — then they will have a good time and, to a surprising degree, so will you.

Whether you apply this principle to conversation, games, hobbies, or community activities, the results will more than repay you for the extra effort you make.

And putting your heart into everything you do will make your whole life happier and more successful!

The modern life insurance agent puts everything he's got into his job — helping people build a secure financial future. His enthusiasm is sincere because it is based on his personal conviction that life insurance meets a vital need.

Recover School Bus

The station wagon school bus driven by Ralph Martin, which was stolen a week ago Monday, was recovered in Medicine Hat over the week-end, when two youths gave themselves up to the police force there. They had driven main highway all the way the night they stole the vehicle.

Tried in police court in Strathmore on Tuesday, they were sentenced to two months each in jail. The bus was returned to Strathmore having suffered some damage to the starter, but otherwise as good as before. Ralph's school route was served with the aid of the old bus used by Jack Caldwell prior to getting his new one.

Women Only

We liked this one which we saw in Elmore Philpott's column: We were sitting on the high bank looking down at the bathers in the wonderful hot pool at Radium Hot Springs (B.C.). A 3-year-old was bawling for any one of the thousand and one reasons sufficient to explain that expression.

His mother: "Stop that bawling or I'll smack you."
Bawling continues. Then smack, smack, smack—not cruel—just stupid.

But before the smacks are over the mother is saying: "Now give mamma a nice big kiss."

The only response to that is no kiss, louder bawling.

The mother points down the steep bank to a rock in the river below.

"Stop that bawling or I'll throw you right down on that rock."

The bawling continues louder than ever for the 3-year-old surely knows he has something to hawl for now with a mother that dumb.

UNDER THE STREETLAMP

by PAT O'HOOLEY

This is PAT O'HOOLEY

While Rev. Ford waited in the living room for Mrs. Tew, he was being entertained by her seven year old son, Billy. The conversation consisted of questions from Mr. Ford, and very brief replies from the youngster.

Presently, asked if he always said his prayers, he replied: "Yes, only mummy sometimes says them for me."

"Ch, and what does mummy say?" "She often just says: 'Thank heaven you're in bed at last for another night.'"

According to Lee Welshimer, being cheerful at breakfast is just a habit....like lying about your golf score.

Their cars having collided, Andy Scott and Orrin Wolman were surveying the situation. Andy offered Orrin a drink from his bottle. Orrin drank and Andy returned the bottle to his pocket.

"Thanks," said Orrin, "but aren't you going to have a nip yourself?" "Sure," replied Andy, "but not until the police have been here."

Concerning the birth of triplets, a Boise (Ida.) Evening Statesman copy reader dealt this one: "Three of kind gives pair full house."

Mrs. May was surprised to find a plump chicken placed in the kitchen one day. She made inquiries and was unable to learn about a chicken having been bought. Finally she inquired of Bill Saunders.

"Why," Bill explained, "that chicken was roostin' on our back fence for four nights, so this mornin' I just seized him for rent of that fence."

Chuck Freeman: "I'll betcha a buck you won't even marry me." Peggy Henderson: "I'll take ya and raise ya five."

Brenner: "But you guaranteed this watch would last a lifetime." Buchner: "I know, but you didn't look very healthy the day you bought it."

Those Slow Whistles In Hockey Games

The reason why the "slow whistle" is used in hockey provides a puzzle for many pewsters! They see a team sweep down the ice on the attack with one member obviously offside as he crosses the blue line into the attacking zone ahead of the puck carrier. But the referee

The highlander was lying ill in the last stages of exhaustion in a hospital, and asked that some one play for him on the bagpipes! The nurse had a warm heart and brought a piper into the room to play his entrancing music. The highlander soldier recovered. But other patients in the hospital all died!

does not immediately blow his whistle. He watches the play closely and, to the fan it seems as though he waits a minute before making up his mind to blow it. Actually the referee is trying not to penalize the defending team. The next time such a play sweeps into your home team's defence zone and you are on your feet calling the referee a "thief," wait just a second and see if your team hasn't broken up the play and is away on the attack. If the referee blows a "quick whistle" on these plays, an alert defending team which breaks up the play as it enters the defending zone and has an open break up the ice loses its chance to capitalize on its opportunity. Have you ever seen a defending player commit a foul and the referee point at him but not blow his whistle until the attacking team loses the puck? Here again you have the "slow whistle" and the reason is quite obvious.

First Aid Hints for

Miscellaneous Injuries

FOREIGN BODY IN THE EAR CHANNEL

If an insect is in the ear channel, fill the ear with olive oil, when the insect will float and may be removed. Otherwise make no attempt to treat a patient with a foreign body in the ear, but take him to a doctor as soon as possible; attempts to remove the foreign body may lead to fatal consequences. If a child cannot be induced to keep the fingers from the ear, tie his hands down to prevent his pushing the foreign body further. Never syringe or probe the ear.

FOREIGN BODY IN THE NOSE

Instruct the patient to breathe through the mouth. Do not interfere with the foreign body, but take him to a doctor at once.

FOREIGN BODY IN THE STOMACH

Pins, and other small, sharp objects, may be accidentally swallowed. Give nothing by the mouth, but take the patient to a doctor at once. Smooth objects such as coins or buttons need not cause alarm.

FROST BITE

Wind and constricting clothing will make the tissues freeze more readily. Moisture on the skin, and air heavily laden with moisture, will make the tissues freeze more readily, that is — the tissues will stand a much lower temperature in dry air than in moist air, before freezing takes place.

TREATMENT: 1. Slow thawing. 2. No rubbing. 3. No moisture. 4. No snow.

Farm Survey Out

During the last week of November, farmers throughout Canada will again be receiving the annual December questionnaire concerning live stock, poultry, farm labour and acreages on their own farms. The questionnaire is being sent out by the Agricultural Division of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics in co-operation with the provincial Departments of Agriculture. The answers given by farmers to the questions on the forms will provide the basis for estimating the numbers of live stock and poultry in Canada at December 1, 1948, together with marketing and farm skill of live stock during the last six months. Estimates of farm labour and acreages seeded and harvested will also be obtained from the returns received.

The statistics obtained from the survey are used extensively through out the year. The Dominion Bureau of Statistics is the official source of statistical information in Canada and its figures are used by governments, farm organizations and industry to plan future operations. International organizations such as the World Food and Agriculture Organization depend on the Bureau to supply up-to-date figures on Canada's agricultural industry. The farmer, through his response to the questionnaires sent out by the Bureau, has a real opportunity to help form a true picture of agricultural conditions, and it is in his own interest to do so.

The survey has no connection with taxation. The farmer's individual form is seen only by workers in the Dominion and Provincial agricultural statistical offices and the farmer is protected by law against the wrong use of his return. All individual forms are kept strictly confidential.
